

Tests You Need to Take Before a Transplant

Test	Date done	Comments
<input type="checkbox"/> blood draws for blood typing, cross-matching and tissue typing
<input type="checkbox"/> blood test panel
<input type="checkbox"/> chest X-ray
<input type="checkbox"/> stool hemoccults: one time between ages 45 and 49 (This tests for blood in feces, which could mean you have an ulcer.)
<input type="checkbox"/> bone density: one time (This test is to measure how thick your bones are.)
<input type="checkbox"/> social service evaluation
<input type="checkbox"/> influenza shot: every year
<input type="checkbox"/> pneumonia shot: every five years
<input type="checkbox"/> hepatitis shot: series of three injections
<input type="checkbox"/> tuberculosis skin testing: every two years
<input type="checkbox"/> tetanus shot: every 10 years
<input type="checkbox"/> dental check: every year		