Intern Program Admissions

1. APPIC Application for Psychology Internship (APPI)
2. Doctoral student in clinical or counseling psychology program accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA) or the Canadian Psychological Association (CPA)
3. Approval for internship status by graduate program training director
4. Passed Comprehensive Exams (or equivalent)
5. Dissertation proposal approved
6. Minimum of 250 intervention hours completed
7. Minimum of 100 assessment hours completed

Selection Process

Applications received by the program are reviewed by multiple training committee members. Each applicant can request consideration for one or both tracks associated with the program. Additionally, the program feels applicants with strong basic skills in standard assessment, individual intervention and group therapy intervention would function well in the program. We select candidates from many different kinds of programs and theoretical orientations, from different geographic areas, of different ages, from different ethnic backgrounds, and with different life experiences. Allina health is an Equal Opportunity Employer and we are committed to ensuring a range of diversity among our training classes. All things being equal, consideration is given to the applicants who identify themselves as members of historically underrepresented groups on the basis of racial or ethnic status; as representing diversity on the basis of sexual orientation; or as representing diversity on the basis of disability status. These factors may be indicated on their application.

Interview Process

Interviews are conducted either in-person or via phone or Skype. Those applicants that attend interviews in-person are included in a group presentation giving an overview of our sponsoring agency and the role of mental health in the larger system. In-person interviews also provide time to each applicant for a panel interview, tour of the facility, Q&A sessions with supervisors and a Q&A session with current Interns. Phone interviews are conducted with a minimum of two supervisory staff present. All interviews are guided through use of predetermined questions and vignette(s) to provide continuity between interviews and interviewers.
